Plush Toy Quality Inspection Checklist

What to check before your bulk order ships - measured against the sample you approved.

One reference only: the physical sample you approved.
Not a photo, not the artwork file. Before cartons are sealed, every piece is compared with that sample on the five checks below. Pieces that differ are pulled out and corrected before packing - never after.

Product: _____ Approved sample date: _____ Quantity: _____

Check	What is compared with the sample	A mismatch usually looks like
☐ Size	Finished height and width match the sample	A batch running small or large - usually a cutting or filling deviation
☐ Face placement	Feature position, spacing and symmetry match the sample	Shifted embroidery, eyes at uneven heights
☐ Stitching	Straight seams, secure joins, trimmed thread ends	Skipped stitches, seams opening at joins, loose threads showing
☐ Filling	Fullness and feel match the sample; the shape holds	Flat spots, uneven stuffing, limbs softer or firmer than the sample
☐ Confirmed details	Accessories, prints and label positions agreed on the sample are present and correct	Missing accessory, misaligned print, label sewn the wrong way

If a piece fails

It is pulled out, corrected, and checked again. Only pieces that pass go into the cartons, and cartons are sealed after the check, not before.

Two things buyers often mix up

Inspection is not safety testing. This check produces no lab report and no certificate; the testing and documents your market requires run on a separate track.

Want your own inspector at the factory? Welcome - raise it at the quotation stage, so inspection and correction time is scheduled inside the production window (bulk production generally runs 30-60 days).
